Moreno Valley Resident Appointed To EPA Committee

Leonard Robinson

Recently, Moreno Valley resident Leonard E. Robinson was appointed by the Moreno Valley City Council to serve on the Ecological Protection Advisory Committee for a term that ends June 30, 1996. The Committee serves in an advisory capacity to the City Council and staff on environmental matters.

This is Robinson's second tour of duty with the committee. He has served as Vice-Chair and Chair when the committee was known as the Citizen's Hazardous Waste Advisory Committee and was involved in the selection process for the present committee's name. It was during Robinson's tenure on the committee that Riverside County's very first Household Hazardous Waste Round-up was held in Moreno Valley in 1986.

Robinson, 40, is married and has three children. He is currently the Environmental/Manager at TAMCO, a steel recycling facility in Rancho Cucamonga. In 1994, Robinson received a letter of commendation from the Moreno Valley City Council for initiating a program where firearms and knives confiscated by Southern California law enforcement agencies (including Riverside County Sheriff's) are melted and recycled into steel reinforcing bar (rebar) at TAMCO.

African-American Saturn Dealer Opens In Ontario

By Cheryl Brown
Black Voice News

In June of 1982 Alex C. Mair, a former Vice President of General Motors began discussing an innovative, small car project that in July was named Saturn by chief designer, Phil Garcia. The rest is history and a car projected to beat the Japanese in the small-car race was born.

In 1982 Jim Trainer, owner of the new Saturn of Ontario was completing his ninth year in the car business. "Back then we learned an entirely different way of selling cars," said Trainer. "We are now Saturnized. The Saturn way is entirely different. Our focus is on what the customer wants with no pressure from a sales person. No hassle on the sticker price. What is listed is the best most reasonable cost available and our delivery system is second to none."

Trainer, responded to Universal Media's invitation to invite members of the West Coast Black Publishers Association to visit his facility. Publishers came from as far away as Sacramento and Oxnard to welcome Trainer to the California market and to the 900,000 people he will service in this market area. Saturn also announced their intention to advertise. "We are pleased that Mr. Farmer is committed to developing an advertising program for 1996 to advertise in our group's publications," said Ter-sit Asrat, owner of Universal Media Group. Her company will handle the program.

Trainer takes personal interest in selling each car. He even joins the staff as they welcome each new car buyer as a part of the Saturn family. Every customer is important and he guarantees if you come to his store you will feel good about your purchase.

That feel good atmosphere had him selling just short of a dozen cars in four days.

Considering the Saturn Plant can only build enough cars for each of their approximately 350 dealers to sell only three cars a day, he has surpassed himself. That's without anyone even knowing that he is open for business. "Some people watched the building go up and waited for us to open. They were happy to see us in the Ontario Auto Center," said Trainer.

James Farmer, Vice President of Marketing for Saturn, George Doss III, Saturn's Western Regional Sales, Service and Marketing Manager, Lee McDaniel, Corporate, Otis Reid, GM Manager-West, Nicole Merritt, Public Relations Rick Thompson, Saturn Marketing Rep., and Tom Jacobs, GMAC Branch Manager, were all on hand for this momentous occasion. It was remarked that generally with all the busy schedules, that many GM officials usually meet only through conference calls. This indicates the special significance placed on the success of the dealership.

"We feel very good about Mr. Trainer," said Farmer. "He has been completely Saturnized."

Trainer is a native of Birmingham, Alabama, where he began the automotive business as the first African American salesperson at Edwards Chevrolet in 1971. In 1984, he became a member of the management team at Steel City Olds in Birmingham. By 1991 he became the owner of Trainer Oldsmobile, Cadillac, Pontiac, and GMC Truck, in Warner Robins, Georgia. He was very successful and became the nation's number one minority car dealer. According to Black Enterprise Magazine (1992-1994) and Automobile Fleet Magazine (1994) he sold more cars than any other minority dealer of any make of cars.

"Jim Trainer typifies our Saturn retail partners," says George Doss III. "They are highly successful retail automotive experts, with organizations committed to providing superior customer satisfaction and an exceptional sales and service experience."

"We're focusing on providing a pleasant experience for each customer who walks in the showroom," Trainer says. "Saturn's philosophy and commitment to exceeding customer expectations will help to distinguish us in the marketplace."

With that kind of philosophy the independent subsidiary of General Motors, based in Spring Hill, Tennessee and Troy, Michigan will give the subcompact and compact markets a run for their money.

Trainer is a graduate of Kennedy-Western University, Agoura Hills with a BA in Business Administration. He is married and has three young adult children.

West Africa Meets Inland Empire

Recently the Inland Empire African-American Chamber of commerce was host to a 3 member delegation from Senegal, West Africa. The delegates were visiting the United States to make trade contact and to learn how the US private and public sector work together to increase international trade and economic development. The group's leader, Mr. Ndiaye spoke to the Chamber members about trade and investment opportunities with Senegal. Pictured from left to right are: Elijah Frazier, Vice-President of the African-American Chamber; Kathleen Barros, Principal Partner of Access International and Chair of the Riverside (IRC) Council For International Visitors; Mr. Fallou Samb, Head of Regional Trade Service - Senegal Ministry of Commerce; Mr. Amadou Habibou Ndiaye, Sr. Technical Advisor of Senegal Ministry of Commerce; Mr. Pap Abdou Ly, Chief Financial Officer (Office of the President of Senegal); and Harold Webber, President of the Inland Empire African-American Chamber and Advisor of Pacific Investment Advisors.

Why We Need More Minority Teachers!

Remember when children aspired to be teachers in the South especially before integration? Remember when children were not told they could not learn because they were poor or didn't eat breakfast? Remember when children respected their teachers, and parents in the community knew the teacher? Remember when the teacher was a part of the community in which they lived?

The reason we are not getting more teachers of color in California is that there are few teachers in the pipeline.

While the percentage of students from minority backgrounds has increased over the past decade, the percentage of minority teachers has remained static.

According to the California Department of Education Demographic Unit and Teachers for California Schools In The 21st Century, the percentage of students from nonwhite groups in California public schools has moved from 43.6 % in the 1981-82 school years to 57.8% in the 1993-94 school years. By contrast Hispanic teachers have increased from 5.9% in 1981 to 8.7 twelve years later. The percentage of Black teachers has declined from 6.2 in 1981 to 5.4% 1993-94. Asians went from 4.1 in 1984 to 4.5 in 1993.

The shortage of minority teachers poses problems to all schools, it denies minority children important role models. We must make education more attractive to encourage more minority students to enter the teaching profession.

The California African American Superintendents (CAAS) are concerned about the status, performance, and educational opportunities of the African American students in particular.

We join CAAS in asking Governor Pete Wilson to support a budget change proposal (BCP) that would provide implementation dollars for E.C. Chapter 1271, enacted in 1993. That bill established the Science, Mathematics and Technology Teacher Pipeline Program to identify, support and assist elementary, secondary and post secondary students with potential to become teachers of the subjects especially from underrepresented groups.

Write or call the Governor's office (916) 445-2841. Tell him to get pro-active on this subject. While we do not want a return of the separate but unequal days, we do want equal access, equal participation, equal representation and equal compensation. If you agree tell the Governor. Tell him you read it in the Black Voice. Fax him this editorial and tell him you agree or call him tell him you agree. You can even write him and tell him we need this signed for the children. Whatever you do this week call Pete Wilson and let your voice be heard: (916) 445-2841.

Inequality And Imprisonment

By Dr. Danny Marable
(Part Two of a Two part series)

What explains the mass outpouring of emotion and enthusiasm of nearly one million African-American men who came together in Washington, DC last month? Part of their motivation is due to the recognition that an entire generation of Black leaders, from the community level to national politics, has been eliminated, discredited or destroyed.

Beginning with the assassinations of Malcolm X and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., the American government has aggressively attempted to isolate or imprison Black leaders on the left. The Black Panther Party in the late-1960s, early 1970s, was destroyed by the FBI and local police. Hundreds of progressive Black elected officials have been indicted and imprisoned by law enforcement agencies. Jesse Jackson's Rainbow Coalition seemed to represent a breakthrough by Blacks into mainstream electoral politics. In 1988, Jackson received more than seven million popular votes for the presidency. Jackson had advocated a progressive program, calling for basic reforms within the American political system. His defeat and the decline of the Rainbow Coalition as a national organization left a deep vacuum within Black politics. Farrakhan is attempting to fill that void, and he astutely understood the need for effective Black leadership.

The solidarity generated by the March may obscure the growing stratification of Blacks by income and politics, where "racial unity" can be used to avoid criticism of African-American conservatives like Clarence Thomas. One example of the political and class divisions just beneath the surface within the African-American community is provided by the phenomenon of General Colin Powell, the former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. In an October, 1995 USA Today/CNN/Gallup

Poll, far more Whites than Blacks supported Powell for the presidency. In head-to-head competition against Clinton, Powell as the Republican candidate would win a majority of Whites' votes, 54 percent to 37 percent. But African-Americans overwhelmingly endorsed Clinton over the Black challenger, 68 percent to 25 percent. Among African-Americans, Powell's support is weakest among the most oppressed, those with low incomes, lacking a college education, and who live in the South. Powell's greatest support among Blacks comes from those with college degrees, whose incomes are $30,000 and above, and those who believe "the (O.J.) Simpson verdict was wrong."

The Black middle class, the chief beneficiaries of Affirmative-Action and minority economic set-asides, many of those who became managers, professionals and technicians, are searching for an acceptable political alternative to advance their own class interests. In this sense, Colin Powell and Louis Farrakhan represent two "different" sides of the same political coin. Middle class Republicanism and conservative Black nationalism have similar social and economic philosophies in many respects: self-help, less reliance on government programs, entrepreneurial capitalism, hostility to trade unionism and the left.

The great unknown in the aftermath of the "Million Man March" is the political future of Jesse Jackson. For months, Jackson had refused to endorse the March, on the grounds that it lacked a strong public policy agenda, and to some extent, because it focused narrowly on Blacks' interests alone. When March organizers finally agreed to include public policy issues prominently on the agenda, Jackson changed his mind. However, Jackson's speech at the Washington March resounded with much greater clarity and vision than anything Farrakhan represented. Jackson declared: "We come here today because there is a structural malfunction in America. Why do we March? Because we're less able to get a primary and secondary education. Why do we March? Because the media stereotypes us. We are projected as less intelligent than we are, less hard-working than we work. . . Why do we March? Because we are trapped with second class schools and first class jails. What is the crisis? Wealth going upward; jobs going outward. Middle class coming downward; the poor expanding rapidly."

Following the March, Farrakhan committed the Nation of Islam to conduct a massive voter registration campaign, bringing millions of new Black voters to the polls in 1996. This represents a challenge to the remnants of the Rainbow Coalition and the traditional civil rights establishment. Does Jackson embrace Farrakhan's leadership, or does he attempt to regain the political initiative? Can Jackson revitalize multi-cultural, multiracial, left-of-center politics, speaking beyond Black and White? If Jackson fails, Black America may increasingly turn within itself, moving away from the possibility of multiracial democratic reform.

Before Chavis's expulsion as NAACP leader in 1994, he urged the Black freedom movement to eschew the politics of racial chauvinism and social isolation from progressive multiracial constituencies. Chavis wrote, "Let us not be distracted from our central task: building a nation where we are not separate and unequal, where no group is relegated to poverty, and where race or creed does not determine one's destiny." Chavis's observation still remains the central challenge for both Black and progressive US politics. A strategy which addresses poverty and imprisonment, should understand the burden of race, but must also speak a language of class. A social vision which transcends the narrow confines of Black nationalist separatism remains vital to the reconstruction of American democracy.

Dr. Manning Marable is Professor of History and Director of the Institute for Research in African-American Studies, Columbia University, New York City. "Along the Color Line" appears in over 275 newspapers and is featured by 80 radio stations across the US and internationally.

Have Respect For Each Other

Together We Can

By Charles Ledbetter

"America will destroy herself and revert to barbarism if she continues to cultivate things of the flesh and reject the higher virtues."

Nannie Burroughs, The Southern Workman

If we work together we can do a wonderful job for the citizens of Moreno Valley. As members of the Board of Education, we are elected to a team that has a lot to do with the future of the Valley and our young people.

This team directs education, one of the biggest businesses in California. It is the biggest and most progressive business in Moreno Valley. It was a big business when we had eight schools and it is now a much bigger challenge with 31 schools, so we must work together as a team and give our administrators, teachers, and classified staff the best cooperation we are able to give.

"We need education in the hands to work in a new kind of job environment, we need education of the head to help think through the complex problems of today's world, and we need education of the heart to work together with one another."

Leon Sullivan

We had one of the top Superintendents in education and he demonstrated the ability to gather some of the best administrators in education—let us keep them. We don't want our schools to become a training area for other school systems. We must have the type of respect and courtesy for our employees that they will not want to leave the Moreno Valley school system.

"If you can show me how I can cling to that which is real to me, while teaching me a way into the larger society, then I will not only drop my defenses and my hostility, but I will sing your praises and I will help to make the desert bear fruit."

Ibid

As school Board members the reward for work well done should come when we see and hear of our students' success and we have had many successes from the Moreno Valley Unified School District. If the welfare and success of our future generation is not the goal and objective of a Board of Education, or an individual member, that Board should be dissolved and/or that member should get off the Board of Education. It is not a place to practice and carry out "Hate" plans.

The Board of Education is a team of five trusted, elected individuals and each member is one-fifth of that team. The California School Board Association has been very specific in delegating authority to the Board as a "Body," not to individuals. Outside of official meetings, a member of that Board has not authority over school policies or employees. No individual member can commit the entire Board of Education. Board of Education meetings provide a forum for the discussion and serious deliberation. The discussion should represent the "Best thinking of the group." When there is a difference of opinion, members should respect each other's viewpoint and various perspectives which result from various backgrounds and experiences. Have respect for each other!

"Be responsible for our actions and take responsible actions."

Haki Madhubuti, C. 1975

Respectfully submitted by Charles Ledbetter

A Commitment To Our Children

Our Bodies

By Dr. Ernest Levister, M.D.

Please join me in asking our U.S. Senators and Representatives to give all our children a good life and longevity by signing the following commitment:

WHEREAS, more children alive today will die from tobacco use than from any other single cause - including AIDS, alcohol, car accidents, murders, suicides, illegal drugs and fires combined.

WHEREAS, child smoking rates are rising with the number of eighth graders who smoke increasing 30% between 1991 and 1994.

WHEREAS, every day another 3,000 American children start to smoke, 1,000 of whom will die from lung cancer and other diseases caused by smoking.

WHEREAS, the tobacco industry spends over $6 million a year on advertisements and commercials that, whether intentional or not, have the effect of encouraging children to use tobacco products.

WHEREAS, over 85% of the children who smoke use one of the three most heavily advertised cigarette brands (Marlboro, Camel or Newport).

WHEREAS, state and local laws restricting tobacco sales to minors have been largely ineffective.

THEREFORE, I, the undersigned member of the U.S. Congress commit: (1) to support the common-sense goal of decreasing tobacco use by children by reducing the access and appeal of tobacco products to children; and, (2) oppose efforts to enact legislation that would weaken or delay the present proposal to decrease tobacco use by children.

Please copy the above and send it to your U.S. Senator and Representative. Let's combine together and help protect our children from an addiction to nicotine, leading to disability and death by the 4,000-plus chemicals from the chemical factory called a cigarette.

Thank you.

CCBSBM Holds Annual Conference

The California Coalition of Black School Board Members held its annual breakfast at the annual conference of the California School Board Members Association. The guest speaker was Dr. Marlin Foxworth, Superintendent of the Hayward School District, formerly the Superintendent of the Rialto Unified School District.

After remarks from the Norman Brothers, financing and computer specialists and long time supporters of the organization and Rex Fortune, Superintendent of the Center School District, Foxworth spoke on the need for African Americans on all levels to communicate. And the current climate in the state and the nation makes it imperative. "I want to set up groups all over the state to discuss the issues affecting us with the changing climate of our nation," he said.

An election was held to replace out going state President Hardy Brown. Elected was Bomani Siwatu, Trustee of the Ravenswood Unified School District. The newly elected vice president was Verneicia Green Jordan, Trustee, Perris Elementary School District.

Other school board members from the Inland Empire made presentations at conference workshops. "Open Up The Board Room Doors" was presented by School Board Trustees, Bernadette Burks (Moreno Valley), Dana Kruckenberg (Riverside), and Sonya Wilson (Lake Elsinore). The highly enjoyable presentation included a skit, poetry, do's and don'ts, sharing experiences, and questions from the audience.

Nearly 100 people attended the presentation which informed other school board members about how to treat citizens who come to the board meetings to address the public. "Some people differ on the way they approach standing before the school board. People from different backgrounds and races approach a microphone in a different way. Many times I get excited when I talk, I'm not angry, it's just the excitement of the issue. We should put aside how they say it and deal with what they are saying. It is valid to listen to what these citizens say. Remember they elected you," said Burks.

"Be aware of how you sit and what is the expression on your face. Give a warm welcome to the citizens," said Sonya Wilson. She used her own poetry to get her point across. Wilson additionally discussed the importance of student input. "Students at one school were very upset about a policy change and the Board convened at the school to let 900 students give input. They came up with some really good ideas. Everyone is important," she said.

Dana Kruckenberg admonished, "don't let appearances fool you." She told the story of a board member slighting someone who had on a t-shirt and jeans. He happened to be a Ph.D. and went back and gave trouble to that board member. "Every citizen has a right no matter who they are and what they are wearing to be respected," she said. Kruckenberg also spoke on the Brown Act, the statute that governs all public meetings in the state.

Out of the audience in a rehearsed skit, came Carolyn Preschern, former Trustee in the Upland Unified School District, who acted as a parent just trying to get some books for her child. The skit dealt with the parent who didn't know what to do but was told by the acting board through body language and tone of voice just how uninterested they were in the parent's problem. One member stepped up to the plate and gave a solution to the problem.

Sara Chatman (former state President), Bomani Siwatu, (newly elected state President), Vernicia Green Jordan (vice president), Lucelna (Secretary), Donna Rutherford (Treasurer), Hardy Brown (out going President) and Sonya Wilson, (CSBA member-at-large).

Workshop presenters, on "Opening Up The Board Room Doors" were: Sonya Wilson, Lake Elsinore; Dana Kruckenberg, Riverside; Bernadette Burks and Carolyn Preschern, Upland.

Dr. Marlin Foxworth, Superintendent of Hayward School District. Formerly of Rialto School District.

Norman and Norman partner Greg Norman, shares his new program, "National Expressway to Education" with the audience.

Rex Fortune, Superintendent of the Center School District.

Hardy Brown (out going CCBSBM president), and Louise Perez (outgoing CSBA president) share last moments in their respective positions.

Career Day Gives Life Youth Future Prospects

By Tonya Brownlee

RIVERSIDE-Recently Life Church held their first Annual Career Day sponsored by their Purity Department. This event was well attended with over 70 youth attending that day.

Professionals from the local and surrounding areas included: Teachers, Correctional Officers, Fire Fighters, Counselors, Deputy Marshalls, Respiratory Technicians, Disc Jockeys, Journalists, Doctors, Lawyers, Quality Controllers, Dentists, Administrators, Nutritionists and Entrepreneurs, who made presentations to the youth about the educational and career choices that helped them succeed.

Mervin Morris, 14, shared "The Importance of Setting Goals." There was a special presentation made to help the youth learn how to dress for success. The keynote speaker Dr. Darryl Mayo, physician assistant at USC Medical Center in Los Angeles, spoke to the youth about staying true to their selves, staying focused and being grounded and rooted in what they believe, but above all believe in yourself. Near the close of the day five youths were chosen at random through a drawing. The selected youth won a day on the job of their choice. The winners were Jason Duckworth, Devon Bell, Nicole Morrison, Megan Nobleton, and Leo Perry.

There were several booths set up with lots of information available to all the participants and some had demonstrations. The day's event was the beginning of an ongoing effort to help young people 12-19 plan for a brighter future.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Follow The Drinking Gourd

Many of the songs made up by America's Black slaves contained sly and humorous digs at their masters, yet only rarely did the White man seem to catch on. But these songs took on far greater importance when they were used as musical road maps. Since most of the slaves could not read, some lyrics contained directions for following various escape routes on the Underground Railroad. "Follow The Drinking Gourd" is one of these: The "gourd" was the Big Dipper, and the successive verses describe how the "Conductor," a sailor with a peg leg, would direct fleeing slaves along the Little Tombigbee River and finally to the Ohio and freedom.

When the sun comes back and the first quail calls,

Follow the drinkin' gourd,
For the gold man is a-waitin' for to carry you to freedom,
If you follow the drinkin' gourd.

Chorus: Follow, follow the drinkin' gourd.

Follow, follow the drinkin' gourd.

For the old man is a-waitin' for to carry you to freedom
If you follow, follow the drinkin' gourd.

The riverbank will make a very good road.

The dead trees show you the way.

Following the drinkin' gourd.

Chorus: Follow...

The River ends between two hills.

Follow the drinkin' gourd.

There's another river on the other side.

Follow the drinkin' gourd.

Chorus: Follow...

(Raymond Bazemore, vocal lead; Randy Macon, tambourine; Veron Barth, vibra slap; Milton Maxwell, Glover Parham, and Arthur Williams, chorus.)

The Underground Railroad Experience

Canada the North Star:
The End Of Enslavement Freedom!

By Cheryl Brown
Black Voice News
Part VII

"Freedom... Oh Freedom... and before I be a slave I be buried in my grave.... Follow the Drinking Gourd.... and Follow the Northern Star." Canada was the literal "heaven" in many spirituals sung by the enslaved people. The gourd, from the famous slave song, was the big dipper, and the North Star to which its handle points, served as a map that pointed to Canada. The gourd was also a dried squash that, when cut in half, made a drinking gourd. The gourds were placed at the right side of the door as a signal of a safe house to fleeing Africans. Many of the enslaved Africans who sought freedom in Canada through Windsor, were still in danger if they did not travel far enough away from the border once they arrived in Canada.

Sandwich

The community of Sandwich, in the southwestern section of Windsor, is one such place. The first passengers of the Underground Railroad came in the 1820's and by the 1830's some became permanent residents of Sandwich, where they built the church, Sandwich First Baptist Church.

The original structure was a log cabin built in 1848, six years after its founding by a few members who were very poor. In 1851 a brick structure replaced it. Families were asked to donate bricks and time to build the church. These bricks were hand-made and baked by the ex-slaves and their families. The hardwood floor, the windows, and ceiling were hand carved by the hands of the ex-slaves and their families. Inside the church the meticulous ceiling remains, just as when it was first installed.

The church in Canada was and still is a source of strength. Everyone I met attended a local church. In fact, in every settlement we visited the church is the primary focus of the community. We began with prayer before the historical presentations were made, and it was noted in every presentation that most of the freed enslaved people were strong believing Christians.

After the presentation of all the activities the church is involved in today, our group was taken on a tour of the 150 year old church. On the outside of the church was an entire section of the bricks made by the ex-slaves.

What took my breath away was the escape route in the pulpit area of the church. The fleeing enslaved Africans would be ushered through a trap door, down the steps, through a window in the bottom of the church and out into the woods surrounding the church. The deteriorated steps are being replaced with new ones but the feel is still the same. My ancestors ran for their lives near the spot where I was standing. An eerie feeling came over me.

History

Canada was not always free of slavery. According to The Freedom Seekers, Blacks in Early Canada, by Daniel G. Hill, the first Black to arrive there came in 1628. A ship carried a Black slave child from Madagascar. The area, called at this time New France, which was a French colony, was ruled for 35 years by the Company of New France for King Louis XIV. He tried to strengthen the colony by appointing a governor, Jean Talon. Talon and some of the community citizens complained to the King that they could not develop because of the shortage of servants and workers. French law forbade slavery, but in 1689 limited approval was given to permit slavery. After the approval was given, Blacks and Pawnee Indians were purchased to work as household servants and field hands. By 1709 the King gave full permission for slave ownership. "Black slaves are certainly the only people to be depended upon..." said, General James Murray, first British governor of Quebec in 1763. British Loyalists who left dissident territories moved north to re-establish their families and were offered generous grants and permission to bring their slaves.

In 1791 Upper Canada, which takes in the areas accessed through Detroit, was developed. Amherstburg accessed through the narrowest point in the river had been settled by 1784 when Colonel Matthew Elliott brought 60 slaves he captured during the American Revolution. After passage of the first anti-slavery law in 1787 that abolished slavery in the American Northwest territories, the law did not take hold until 1796. Detroit was both free American territory and slave British territory at the same time. Some of the fleeing slaves swam across the river to freedom in Detroit. Opposition to slavery was being heard in

First Baptist Chatham, John Brown's meeting place. (Inset) Keeper of the culture Gwen Robinson.

England, William Wilberforce introduced a bill in the House of Commons to stop the importation of slaves. One of his supporters was John Graves Simcoe, who became the Governor of Upper Canada. He was instrumental in a new law in 1793 that permitted the existing slaves, outlawed new ones, and gave freedom to any child born to a slave mother at the age of 25.

The law helped to turn the tide of public opinion, and by 1800 most enslaved Canadians were free. The short growing season, rendered slaves unproductive in the winter and it became expensive to clothe and feed them throughout the long winters. When the word trickled down in the United States that enslaved people would not be enslaved in Canada they was shipped to Canada in a trunk with very small inconspicuous air holes. She arrived safely. The trunk is in the museum. Also in the museum is history of the churches, the schools, the military and life in general in the Amherstburg area. Next door an AME (African Methodist Episcopal) Church is being restored. Although the AME Church was deemed too political in Canada because of the Abolitionist activities of the founders and members, many Canadian AME Churches became BME (British Methodist Episcopal), they remain BME today.

The fleeing enslaved people were ingenious they used a system that zig-zagged and doubled back as well as changed course. There were many ways to get to Canada. One of the most valuable tools carried by the fleeing enslaved Africans was a bag of black pepper. It was used to throw the fleeing man/woman's scent off the dogs, and allow them to escape.

First Baptist Church-Chatham

First Baptist Church (called by some John Brown's Meeting House) is also a historic building located in Chatham. It was founded in 1841 by refugees who were formerly enslaved from the United States. This site is where one of the last of a series of meetings held by White abolitionist John Brown, and an integrated group of supporters in May of 1858 met, prior to the planned raid at Harper's Ferry. John Brown was born into a religious family May 9, 1800. His father was a station master in the Underground Railroad. He was also a Trustee at Oberlin College (Ohio). Their home was a haven for fleeing Africans. It was in Chatham that he developed his Master Plan to empower the enslaved people in his country. First Baptist is where the forty-eight article Constitution was completed. Part of his secret plan led him to the Federal Arsenal at Harper's Ferry, Virginia. He was hanged December 2, 1859. "I am very prosperous still and looking forward to a time when peace on earth and goodwill to men shall everywhere prevail," was his final note. Many brave people both White and Black gave their all for the cause.

Canada was heaven for the formerly enslaved African people. They were the artisans, (skilled craftsmen), the builders, the businessmen. They built a new life in a new land and felt compelled to share it with their brother and sisters. Many returned time after time to the U.S. to pick up new passengers, show them way to the North Star and FREEDOM.

North American Black Historical Museum

At the North American Black Historical Museum and Cultural Centre, the African culture is deep. It is from Africa that the culture is derived and the beginning of our history. Many of the utensils, the ways and the lifestyles were directly from our native habitat. There is proven information about the lengths the fleeing Africans went to escape. The history has been passed down and going there is just like going back in time to the 1800's.

My enslaved ancestors escaped any way possible. In false bottom wagons, in tattered clothing, in the finest of finery, through a system of barns, attics and secret rooms, even in boxes, a coffin and trunks and using an array of signals. One 11 year old girl

Farias and Claiborne Key North's First CIF Title; Worthy Honored

North : CIF Champions '95

WHAT A SEASON: Led by Coach Mark Paredes and All-American Chris Claiborne, North overcame city and league rival Rubidoux, in an exciting and competitive Division 4 title game at Redlands.

Riverside North completes a perfect season (14-0), with comeback win over Rubidoux.

By LELAND STEIN III
BVN Sports Editor

REDLANDS - Perfection!
We all strive - or at least we should - for perfection. It's rare when we meet that goal.

Well, Riverside North (14-0) dared to dream about a perfect season, then went out and made its dream a reality.

"It's lovely we got a chance to play against our rivals," said North lineman James Devine. "These guys are tough. I'm just thankful we came out on top . . . and to think a couple years ago we were 0-10."

Against a game and determined foe, the Rubidoux Falcons in a California Interscholastic Federation Division 4 title game at the University of Redlands, North culminated a dream season with a 21-18 victory over its crosstown and Ivy League rival before close to 9,000.

"We couldn't get the kind of pressure we wanted to get on them," said Rubidoux Coach Wayne Cochrun. "They just did a heck-of-a job. They are a well prepared and well coached football team. It was a heck of a football game."

North, destiny's child, was indeed well prepared. There was no stopping the Huskies' drive to their first CIF title. It was as if the heavens were overlooking their run. Through out the season, when a team was making a run at North, something - Chris Claiborne, Robert Farias, Bryan Kennedy, Dung Le, Sam Brandon and Justin Solis - always happened in their favor to stave off an opponent's charge at victory.

It was more of the same against the Falcons (11-3) in the title game.

After Rubidoux had taken a 18-14 third quarter lead, behind Orshawante Bryant's 40-yard run, the Falcons had the momentum and appeared in control of the contest.

But, as they have all season, the Huskies put together a fourth quarter drive that included two gut-it-out plays. Third-and-10 and fourth-and-4 situations were turned into first downs, keeping their game-winning drive alive. Farias, who passed for two scores and ran for one, completed the crucial passes to Le (21-yards) and Kennedy (25-yards).

"We knew it was going to be a battle, but we did what we had to do to win," said Kennedy, who also played on North's CIF baseball title team in 1994. "Their defensive backs were concerned with our receivers, so the tightend situation opened up for me."

With 5:24 remaining in the contest, Claiborne completed the game winning drive with a 14-yard touchdown catch, of which he ran through a couple tacklers.

"Chris was suppose to be blocking," said North Coach Mark Paredes, "but, somehow he slipped out there and we got him the ball."

Said Claiborne, who ran for 152 yards: "I didn't score early, but I didn't feel any pressure. I felt like my team would take care of itself. Bryan made that big time catch (on North's final drive), Robert made the throw, and the line worked their butts off. We have done it like that all year, we've learned how to win."

With North leading 21-18 and a little more than five minutes remaining in the fourth quarter, the Falcons set sail on a 58-yard drive to the Huskies 3, fueled by Curtis Edwards runs of 25 and 18-yards.

Faced with fourth-and-2 from the 3 and 1:10 remaining in the game, Rubidoux elected to kick a field goal. But Nick Anderson's attempt went wide, and North ran out the clock.

"We played our hearts out today," said Falcon lineman Rodney Granderson. "I don't know what to say."

Said Bryant: "We tried our best, but North just came out on top. It didn't end up as we would have liked, but we had a good run at it."

Added Falcon's two-way star Aaron Notarianni: "I'm glad I got this far and we made it to the show. I love everyone on this team. We put out the effort, it just didn't happen for us."

Said Edwards, who ran for 172 yard: "We came up a little short . . . It's disappointing, but we had a great team and season."

While the Falcons were reflecting on what could have been, North was basking in their championship feeling.

"It feels great!" Le said. "The first time since 1972 we've been in the big game. I'm so happy I don't know what to say."

Said lineman Ryan Brock: "We went out and executed when we had too. We really wanted this game."

Added Brandon, who caught a 65-yard touchdown pass from Farias: "The ball was right there for me . . . what else could I do but catch it. It's a great feeling being champion."

Raiders run into a steel wall, lose fourth consecutive game, this time to Steelers, 29-10.

By Mickey Ingram
BVN Staff Writer

OAKLAND - On my way to the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum, I asked myself two questions: How could the Raiders, who were coming into the contest with three consecutive losses, get past the Pittsburgh Steelers, who were riding high with six straight wins? Could quarterback Billy Joe Hobert, who was starting his first NFL game, provide a miracle outing?

Before 53,503, the Steelers beat the Raiders 29-10. Oakland is now forced to win their final two games against Seattle and Denver to ensure a spot in the playoffs.

The Silver & Black's fourth consecutive loss was a total breakdown. They could gain only 28 yards rushing (as a gauge, Steeler back Eric Pegram gained 122 yards), Hobert tossed four interceptions, receivers dropped touchdown passes, the referees had a bad day . . . everything went bad.

"We need to do everything to win and we haven't done that," said Raider corner back Albert Lewis.

Said Raider safety Eddie Anderson: "We have got to find a way to score points and win some games. I still think this is a quality team and we can still make a run at it."

A Key point in the game came when Pat Swilling got to Steeler quarterback Neil O'Donnell, but he threw the ball before he could complete the sack. The pass ended up in Anthony Smith's hands and he ran it 69-yards for an apparent touchdown, but one official had ruled the play dead - very bad call.

Instead of the Raiders holding a 14-10 lead in the second quarter, it stayed at 10-7.

The call and nullifying of the touchdown confused and seem to take the game away from the Raiders.

"I've been on a lot of teams, and I've never seen a team get as many bogus calls as this one gets," Swilling said. "He was still standing and able to throw the ball, how can that be a sack?"

How can the Raiders' season get sacked after such a promising start and all the quality moves made in the last two off-seasons as far as players?

Raider Coach Mike White thinks he knows, saying: "I don't think our line's blocking particularly well, and as a result we are not getting the explosion you need to be effective."

I agree.

James Worthy hangs high in Fourm rafters

By LELAND STEIN III
BVN Sports Editor

INGLEWOOD - Featuring future Hall of Famer Joe Dumars and the NBA Rookie of the Year Grant Hill, the Detroit Pistons rode into the Great Western Fourm to battle the Lakers.

Before 16,176, the teams played defensive basketball with the Lakers making a move in the final quarter that earned them a 87-82 victory.

Sure, Sedale Threatt's back-to-back three-pointers with the score tied 78-78, made him the game's star and gave the Lakers the win, plus, anytime you get a home win it's important. But, no matter what, the game had to take a back seat to what was to come at halftime.

This day belonged to James Worthy!

When the halftime ceremonies commenced, and Worthy's number 42 was left hanging from the Fourm rafters, along side Magic Johnson, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Jerry West, Wilt Chamberlain and Elgin Baylor, the end of the "Showtime" era was officially cemented in history.

"I can say playing for the Lakers has been one of the most rewarding, enhancing, most exciting experiences I've had as an adult," said Worthy to an appreciative crowd that serenaded him with a Worthy . . . Worthy . . . Worthy chant.

Also on hand for the celebration were his father, Ervin Worthy Sr., and his two older brothers. Also participating in the ceremonies were Magic, Chick Hearn, and his college Coach Dean Smith, who flew in just for the occasion.

"It was my privilege to coach James in college," Smith said. "He is a great person on and off the court. We knew the first time we saw James he had that something special."

Added Laker executive West: "I remember when we drafted James, he promptly became one of the important players on what I think is some of the best teams ever. I think no one will forget those teams."

During the Lakers' run through the NBA in the '80's, Magic and Kareem stood firmly on center stage, but any knowledgeable NBA watcher surely knew that Worthy's contribution was just as important to the Lakers championship successes.

Further inspection of Worthy's career uncovers: A NCAA title ('82) and tourney MVP while at North Carolina; the NBA's No. 1 pick in '82; a member of three NBA championship squads ('85, '87 and '88), plus the MVP honors in the '88 series.

Because Worthy was able to raise his play in important games, he earned the title of 'Big Game' James. But Magic recalled one of the things about James that we all will remember. "I would be coming down on the break, and no-look to James on the wing, then he would hold the ball in that big mitt, glide in the 'Statue of Liberty' . . . and dunk!" recalled Magic. "James was one of the most beautiful basketball player I ever saw."

Worthy concluded that he realizes what it means to "be up there (number hanging on the North wall)," and he knew if he was a "team player" the appreciation and things would come."

LIFEbeat Counter Aid '95

LIFEbeat's Counter Aid '95, which brought together major and mom & pop record stores with celebrities from music, TV, and film to help raise money for those living with HIV/AIDS, proved even more successful than last year, thanks to the support of over 1400 retail outlets nationwide. Throughout the six day span, Word AIDS Day (Dec. 1st) through December 7th, participating record stores asked their customers to round their purchases up to the nearest dollar, with the extra monies being donated to LIFEbeat. On December 2nd, artists and celebrities did their part for the cause by staffing the cash registers at participating record stores in New York, Los Angeles, Miami and Atlanta. Black Publishers Hold 12th Annual Convention

The 12th Annual Convention of West Coast Black Publishers Association (WCBPA) ended at Bally's Resort and Hotel in Las Vegas recently on a high note of enthusiastic, but cautious, optimism. The theme, "Charting New Directions - Meeting The Challenges of Diversity," formed an appropriate metaphor for an industry group buffeted by merging corporations who are not advertising as they should be with the Black press, along with political and social issues that continue to plague African-Americans. Although the future holds uncertainties, the general consensus was that now more than ever, Black publishers, corporate America, minority owned businesses and the community must work in close partnership to ensure their mutual success and survival.

Over four days, the assembled delegates from around the country, representing more than 25 fortune 500 companies, civic and political leaders explored various implications and topics of interest vital to their success which directly impacts the quality of business and life in the minority community. The characteristics defining these relations with West Coast Black Publishers Association are important because the WCBPA specifically serves a targeted audience and no other medium in the West has the credibility of its member papers.

One highlight of the 12th Annual WCBPA Convention was the session, "Perspectives On The Million Man March," hosted by American Minorities Media. It attracted a large audience as member Publishers and convention attendees shared their deepest emotions and experiences that were cultivated at The March. The forum increased the cohesiveness of the overall gathering and everyone was motivated to continue to spread its positive word. According to Garrison Jackson, senior vice president of Circulation Expert in Hartsdale, NY, "I was very happy to recount my feelings with others on the panel, about the Million Man March. People were interested in our opinions and the discussions helped to capture the true essence of the March for those who could not attend."

WCBPA's inaugural Youth Day was also applauded by everyone. The outstanding activities began with a Youth Day Breakfast, hosted by Nordstrom and Walt Disney Company. Hardy Brown II, HD Consultants, was the keynoter for the breakfast that was attended by more than 80 minority high school seniors of the Las Vegas School District. Brown, a graduate of Wilberforce University, gave a rousing motivational speech demonstrating his concern for young people.

Hardy II is the son of Hardy and Cheryl Brown, Sr., co-publishers of the Riverside Black Voice. His focus was the importance of image, "We must take charge of creating a positive image for the media to show. We must overcome peer pressure, talk to your friends about doing positive things. Read books to increase knowledge, dare to be different."

The youth day luncheon was hosted by Brown, LaDredo Guilford, Household Finance and HD Consultants; and F. Lee Stenson, Fast Track L.A., who spoke of career opportunities in the fields of finance and math.

Another highlight was the Youth Day Forum at which Janice Bryant Howroyd, president/ CEO of ACT 1 Personal Services was the speaker. Howroyd, an advocate of giving back to the community, accurately probed issues of concern for the young adults. She supplied encouragement, inspiration and suggestions for today's youth to reach their goals in a society that often times does not make general support available. Howroyd also told the students to "get to know the Black publishers because they are your leaders, they can provide resources and they care about you." Dr. Keith Orlando Hilton, of Hilton Higher Education Worldwide, moderated the forum at which the students actively participated in the question and answer period.

Attracting a large gathering to the Welcome Day Luncheon, hosted by Anheuser-Busch, Inc., was Kellen Winslow, Esq., a member of the National Football League Hall of Fame. With appearances on NBC's Today Show, ABC's Nightline, and ESPN. Winslow is often called upon to speak about social, political, economic and racial issues relating to sports. His timely remarks called for continuing support of the Black press because the Black community then becomes empowered with information that is vital to its welfare.

The West Coast Black Publishers Association was established in 1971 as a trade association for Black owned newspapers in the Western United States. It has 22 member newspapers and more than 34 editions which are published in 18 markets. The newly elected WCBPA officers are Brian Townsend, president, Cloves Campbell, Jr., first vice president, Virginia Taylor, second vice president, Ruth Hopkins, secretary and Bernard Foster, treasurer and immediate past president. According to Townsend, "We are extremely pleased with the outcome of this year's convention. Our member publishers take pride in being champions for progress in the minority community. The Black press is alive and we will work diligently for its survival and for it to be the best that it can be."

The 12th Annual convention was initially planned for Los Angeles but was aborted when the Publishers voted to move to Las Vegas because of Gov. Pete Wilson's assault against affirmative action in California. They were staunchly supported by corporate hosts and sponsors, national and state association executives as well as media representatives. Corporate participants included: Act 1 Personnel Services, American Minorities Media, Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc., Brown & Williamson, Cable News Network (CNN), Canadian Club, Coors Brewing Company, Kraft Foods, Inc., Miller Brewing Company, Nissan Motor Corporation, Kraft Foods, Inc., Miller Brewing Company, Nissan Motor Corporation, USA, Nordstrom, Pabst Brewing Company, Philip Morris USA, Reebok, Schieffelin & Somerset, RJ Reynolds, The Southland Corporation, Toyota USA and Walt Disney Company.

The 12th Annual WCBPA Convention was coordinated by the Public Relations Firm of Alescia Buford, president of Alescia Buford and Associates in Sherman Oaks, CA.

Brown Honored By Black Educators

Recently, at a reception held to welcome new teachers, Hardy Brown, former member of the San Bernardino Board of Trustees was honored by the African American Educators Association for twelve years of service. In the presentation teacher Sally LaSane said Brown disturbed a mighty river. The analogy was from a poem whose anonymous writer said, "Drop a pebble in the water, just a splash and it is gone. But there's half-a-hundred ripples circling on and on and on. . . You've disturbed a mighty river just by dropping in a stone!" LaSane commented, "There's no way of telling how many lives you have touched; nor is there any way of telling how many have been influenced by your leadership and direction." After she named a few of the many accomplishments Brown has made in the last twelve years she said, "We here today want to leave you with the admonition to continue dropping pebbles wherever you go because the world needs your rippling effects on the lives of students everywhere."

CBSU Holds Recognition And Scholarship Banquet

The Coalition of Brothers and Sisters Unlimited recently presented its Fourth annual Recognition and Scholarship Banquet at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Los Angeles. The motto for this year's banquet was "When all else fails, educate!"

The Coalition is a group of community based organizations whose membership comprises the diverse cultural and ethnic background of Los Angeles itself. Its members include Blacks, Hispanics, Asians, Caucasians and Native Americans.

Through its Fourth Annual Recognition and Scholarship Banquet the Coalition attempted to address the financial and educational concerns of South Central Los Angeles, which has fewer resources than the rest of the country. Most South Central residents earn less than $5,000 per year and are often one-parent families who have limited funds to educate and provide for the health care necessities or recreational needs of their children.

Christine Devine, KTTV Fox 11 News Anchor, served as the Mistress of Ceremonies and Pat Watts, Executive Southern California Edison provided the welcome.

The evening was dedicated to the memory of Bobby Lavendar, Founder and First Executive Director of the Coalition. Lavendar's daughter, Venia Lavendar, was on program for the evening.

This year eight community leaders were honored. Among the honorees included: Ernie Barnes, Cheryl Brown, Paul C. Hudson, William Christine Devine and Frederick "Rick" Banks.

(Bill) Jordan, Stanette Kennebrew, Roger E. Mosley, Horace Tapscott, and Bishop Thamar E. Williams.

Ernest (Ernie) Eugene Barnes, Jr.

Ernie Barnes was born July 15, 1938 in Durham, NC. A gifted athlete, he had been offered 26 athletic scholarships by the time he graduated from Hillside High School in Durham. His real ambition, however was to become an artists. He attended North Carolina College (North Carolina Central University) from 1956-59 where he studied art with mentor Edward Wilson, then Chair of the Art Department. He presented his first student exhibition in 1959, the same year he began his professional football career with the Baltimore Colts. He retired from professional football in 1965.

Since leaving the professional football, arena Barnes has become a nationally and critically acclaimed artist. Barnes perhaps has become most well known for his paintings featured on the CBS television series "Good Times" from 1974-79. Barnes was appointed the official artist of the 1984 Games of the XXIIrd Olympiad in Los Angeles. He was awarded an honorary Doctor of Fine Arts Degree in 1990 from North Carolina Central University, and November 1st has been officially declared "Ernie Barnes Day" in his hometown of Durham, NC.

Cheryl R. Brown

Cheryl Brown is Co-Owner, Co-Publisher and Editor of the Black Voice News, a Southern California community weekly publication.

Paul C. Hudson

Paul Hudson is President and Chief Executive Officer of Broadway Federal Savings, the oldest African-American savings and loan association west of the Mississippi, with assets exceeding $101 million, and serving the South Central Los Angeles marked since 1947.

Prior to joining Broadway Federal in 1980, he practiced law with the Washington, D.C. firm of Wilmer, Cutler and Pickering. In 1975, Hudson returned to Los Angeles to join the law firm that his father founded, Hudson, Sandoz and Brow. He is a member of the District of Columbia bar, as well as the State of California Bar.

Hudson was born and raised in Los Angeles and attended Los Angeles public schools before receiving his bachelors degree in political science from the University of California, Berkeley. In 1970, he went on to do his graduate studies at

Daughter of Horace Tapscott, Christine Devine, Fox Channel 11 News Anchor; Stanette Kennebrew, Cheryl Brown, Kafi Roberts, Mrs. Tapscott, Paul C. Hudson, Bishop Thamar Williams, and Roger Mosely.

Boalt Hall School of Law where he received a juris doctorate degree. In 1989, he continued his education by receiving a degree from the Graduate School of Savings Institution Management at the University of Texas at Austin.

William (Bill) Jordan

William Jordan received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology and Anthropology from California State University, Dominguez Hills.

Jordan entered the Probation Department in 1984 after spending 12 years as a liquor salesman.

Jordan was transferred to Central Juvenile Hall where he worked in girls unit for a few years and the remainder of his time until 1988 was spent working in a dental office.

Currently, he is a officer working the gang unit out of Long Beach.

Kennebrew is the Vice-President and Chief Financial Officer for Charles R.Drew University of Medicine and Science, a medical education and research university with an operating budget of over $50 million. She was recruited to this position to develop new internal control systems and infrastructures. Included in the design was a new fiscal system, a new chart of accounts, information management system and new technologies. These changes stabilized the financial system and business functions and as a result eliminated the $3 million dollar deficit and reduced the year end audit time by 10 months, generating a net audit savings of $550,000.

Kennebrew is an Accreditation Officer of the Western Association of Schools and Colleges, the Regional Accrediting body for schools and colleges.

Kennebrew is married. Her hobbies include long distance walking, roller skating, daily workouts, and involvement in new innovative projects.

Roger E. Mosley

For eight years Roger E. Mosley endeared himself to television viewers everywhere, playing the role of Tom Selleck's sidekick T.C., pilot and owner of a helicopter service on the CBS-TV series, "Magnum P.I.", now in syndication can be viewed all over the world.

In addition to his co-starring role as T.C., Mosley is an accredited director. He directed several episodes of "Magnum," and also made contributions to the show as a scriptwriter.

This talented actor is also a licensed rotary engine pilot, and he actually flew the helicopter in the early days of the series.

His motion picture credits include "Unlawful Entry," "Leadbelly," "the Greatest," Mr. Mc Q," "Attica," "Jericho Mile," and "I Know Why The Caged Bird Sings." He has played in numerous television movies and series, most recently as the Coach on "Hangin' With Mr. Cooper."

The focus of his outside interest is helping others. He tours the world participating in celebrity sports events and programs that benefit our youth and worthy causes, in spite of his hectic schedule.

Horace Tapscott

Lenny Bruce used to do a perceptive and hilarious bit called "The Sound" in which he parodied the jazz life as it was portrayed in the film "Young Man With A Horn." At its outset, he comments that in this particular movie, jazz was born, as it was in all "crappy Hollywood pictures," in New Orleans.

While the exact location of the beginnings of jazz may be open to speculation, after having spoken with the magnificent and sinfully under appreciated pianist Horace Tapscott, it is clear that the music's Emancipation Proclamation — the manifesto of "free" or "outside" playing — was largely written in Los Angeles, and Tapscott was one of its original signers.

Tapscott, who was born in Houston, moved to Southern California by the time he was 9, and immediately immersed himself in music. He won a spot in Gerald Wilson's big band when he was 14, and juggled band gigs with his studies at Jefferson High School in South Central Los Angeles.

After the obligatory military stint and a period in Lionel Hampton's traveling band, Tapscott tried new York City for a while, but soon headed back to inner-city Los Angeles, where he still lives today, surrounded by a multitude of children, grandchildren, and a great-grandchild.

"Let's just say I wasn't treated too kindly in our segregated society," he said of his New York period. "I didn't appreciate the degree of non-acceptance I encountered, so I came back here and organized." Part of what he organized was the Union of God's Musicians and Artists Ascension, which provides free music lessons to area children.

Bishop Thamar E. Williams

Bishop Thamar E. Williams has been the Senior Minister for the Church of Christ, Mona Boulevard, for the past 25 years.

Pursuant to the Labor Code, the City has obtained from the Director of the Department of Industrial Relations, State of California, his determinations of general prevailing rates of per diem wages believed to be applicable to the work, including employer payments for health and welfare, pension, vacation and similar purposes, copies of which are included in and made a part of the Contract Documents. The Contractor shall post all applicable prevailing wage rates at the job site and shall see that he and all of his subcontractors are paying wages equal to or greater than said rates.

All bids are to be compared on the basis of the City Engineer's estimate of quantities of work to be done.

No bid will accepted from a bidder who is not fully and properly licensed as a contractor for the work to be done by him in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 9, Division III, Sections 7000 through 7145 of the Business and Professions Code of the State of California. On the date and at that time of submittal of the Bidder's Proposal, the prime contractor shall have a Class "A" or "B" contractor's license or a combination of Specialty Class "C" licenses sufficient to cover all of the work to be performed by him.

The City Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid to the extent permitted by law. Bidder may not withdraw his bid for forty-nine(49) calendar days after the bid opening.

As per Public Contract Code Section 22300, the Contractor will be permitted the substitution of securities for any monies withheld by the City of Corona to ensure performance under Contract. At the request and expense of the Contractor, securities equivalent to the amount withheld shall be deposited with the City of Corona, or with a state or federally chartered bank as the escrow agent, who shall pay such monies to the Contractor after satisfactory completion of the Contract. Securities eligible for investment under this section shall include those listed in Section 16430 of the Government Code or bank or savings and loan certificates of deposit. The Contractor shall be the beneficial owner of any substituted for monies withheld and shall receive any interest thereon.

The bidder's attention is directed to Section 6-8 of the Special Provisions which requires the Contractor to post a surety bond in a form approved by the Engineer prior to the final acceptance of the work in an amount of not less than 10% of the final contract amount, or $2,000.00 whichever is greater to guarantee materials and workmanship for a period of one year from the date of acceptance of the work by the City Council.

Contract Documents, including Plans and Special Provisions, but not including the Standard Plans or Standard Specifications, may be obtained from the Parks & Recreation Department, telephone (909) 736-2491, City Hall, Corona, California.
